

CALL FOR POSTERS!

Would you like to display your research or quality improvement findings as a poster?

At the 2018 Southeastern Critical Care Summit you may showcase your poster and share your critical care knowledge with all. You may submit either new or showing previously completed work; please submit an abstract or a copy of the poster to Marina Rabinovich at mrabinovich@gmh.edu by APRIL 17TH, 2018. Submissions will be reviewed and the presenters will be notified if their submission has been accepted by APRIL 20TH (BEFORE EARLY REGISTRATION DEADLINE ON APRIL 22ND). Authors of accepted abstracts will present on Thursday, May 10 and receive a 50% off tuition (please register and pay beforehand and discount will be applied when approved). GENERAL INFORMATION

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Critical care is one of the most resource-intensive areas in U.S. healthcare and one where the quality of healthcare delivery is known to vary significantly despite substantial medical advances in the past decade. This symposium will provide targeted education for common critical care conditions and procedures to multi-professional healthcare stakeholders. This program uses interactive and case-based lectures from stakeholders at all levels (physicians, nurses, NP and PA providers, pharmacists and respiratory therapy personnel as well as administrators), and hands-on teaching in breakout sessions. Topics of particular importance in critical care will involve roundtable discussion with stakeholders and/or breakout sessions; these topics will also be utilized for small-group discussions, teaching and procedural education.

At the conclusion of this program, the participant will be able to:

- Accurately describe and summarize the most recent evidence based medical care guidelines and practice standards for common critical care conditions;
- Describe recent therapeutic advances in the field of critical care medicine which may directly impact optimal patient-centered care;
- Develop strategies to standardize and harmonize the application of evidence across the spectrum of critical care providers and clinical conditions;
- Learn methods and implementation strategies that can be applied in your institution to ensure the application of patient-centered care according to evidence based guidelines; and
- Provide practical hands-on education in the management of common critical conditions and the conduct of common critical care procedures.

PLENARY LECTURERS

KYLE GUNNERSON, MD

Dr. Kyle Gunnerson is Associate Professor in the Departments of Emergency Medicine, Anesthesiology, and Internal Medicine at the University of Michigan. He received his B.S. degree in Chemistry and Biology from Kansas Wesleyan University and his medical degree from the University of Kansas. Dr. Gunnerson trained in the combined Emergency Medicine/Internal Medicine program at Henry Ford Health System, after which he completed his critical care training at the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Gunnerson's research is funded by both industry and the federal government, focusing on early identification and resuscitation of patients in shock or at risk of organ dysfunction, including discovery and development of novel biomarkers, treatment of septic shock, utilization of ECMO, and the development of non-invasive therapeutic technologies. In 2013, Dr. Gunnerson relocated to Michigan to lead an ED-based Critical Care program and to work as an intensivist in the CVICU. Dr. Gunnerson's role as the Chief of the newly formed Division of Critical Care in the Department of Emergency Medicine at the University of Michigan spans the tripartite mission of clinical care, education, and innovative and collaborative research. Uniquely, Dr. Gunnerson has helped guide the creation of a dedicated Emergency Department Critical Care Unit in cooperation with the adult inpatient ICU's. This partnership has led to incorporate a formal multi-disciplinary critical care fellowship in both Anesthesiology and Internal Medicine. Dr. Gunnerson is a past member of the American Board of Internal Medicine Critical Care Subspecialty Committee and currently serves on the Council of the Society of Critical Care Medicine.

This course is intended for critical care physicians, medical directors, nurses and clinical nurse specialists, critical care pharmacists, nurse managers, respiratory therapists, dietitians, rehabilitation specialists, and NP and PA providers.

COURSE LOCATION

All sessions will be held at the Emory Conference Center and Hotel. The hotel is located adjacent to the Emory University campus at 1615 Clifton Road, Atlanta, GA 30329.

For more information about the conference and directions, visit their website at www.emoryconferencecenter.com.

For your discounted rate, make reservations via the Summit website www.CriticalCareSummit.com.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS

Separate applications will be made for AMA PRA Category 1 credits through Ochsner Healthcare Foundation, nursing education credits through American Nurses Credentialing Center and pharmacy credits through the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education.

KAY GUNTUPALLI, MD

Dr. Kalpalatha (Kay) Guntupalli is an endowed Professor in Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas. After obtaining her medical degree from Osmania Medical College in Hyderabad, India, she immigrated to the United States and completed her medical and subspecialty training in Washington D.C. and the University of Pittsburgh. She served on the faculty at Pittsburgh and at Emory University before joining Baylor and rising to the role of Division Chief for Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine while also serving as Fellowship Program Director. Her research interests are in medical education and acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) and she has published 150 articles in prestigious journals including the New England Journal of Medicine, Critical Care Medicine, CHEST and Annals of Internal Medicine. She has held many leadership positions including serving as President of the American College of Chest Physicians and as the first woman President of the American Association of Physicians of Indian Origin. Dr. Guntupalli has been recognized as a Master of the American College of Physicians and the American College of Chest Physicians, Master Clinician at Baylor, World Lung Health award from the American Thoracic Society and a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Indian Society of Critical Care Medicine. She is internationally recognized for her expertise and dedication to medical education and she continues her global work including at a hospital and medical school in India that she helped to found.

ACCREDITATION
 This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education through the joint providership of Ochsner Clinic Foundation and the Southeastern Critical Care Summit. The Ochsner Clinic Foundation is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

DESIGNATION
 The Ochsner Clinic Foundation designates this live activity for a maximum of 13.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

DISCLOSURE
 The Ochsner Clinic Foundation relies upon invited speakers at all sponsored continuing medical education activities to provide information objectively and free from bias of conflict of interest. In accordance with ACCME and institutional guidelines pertaining to potential conflicts of interest, the faculty for this continuing medical education activity has been asked to complete faculty disclosure forms. In the event that some invited speakers indicate that they have a relationship which, in the context of the subject of their invited presentation, could be perceived as a potential conflict of interest, their materials have been peer reviewed in order to ensure that their presentations are free of commercial bias.
